Postlude

Tomorrow is the day the church calls All Saints. Today we light a memorial candle to remember all who have hallowed this earth by the way they walked in the light of God. We remember our ancestors in faith, whose footsteps we follow...

We light the candle to remember and honour all who have been empowered by the Holy Spirit, giving courage, heart, soul and strength to make the world we live in a better place...

We light the candle to remember all who have been creative in sharing their hope with others, who have expressed their faith in music and art, in word and protest, in history, present day and future...

We light the candle to remember family members and friends who have died, the love we shared, the path we walked together, and the empty place they left behind....

(Light candle)

May God bless the light of this candle for all the saints, and illuminate us in the work of Creator, Christ and Holy Spirit, Amen.
