Hymn: With my voice alone – Honja Sorironeun

With my voice alone, there is little I can do.
Add your voice to mine, what more can two voices do?
If we gather more and more, we become a mighty roar,
Our voices loud and strong, speaking out against all wrong.

With my strength alone, there is little I can do.
Add your strength to mine, what more can our forces do?
Gath'ring all our strength as one, we can move a stubborn stone,
And with our pow'r combined, tear down each dividing wall.
